

Fermilab Bar Element

The bar element can be used in addition to the logo. There are two different bar thicknesses that can be used. Below are guidelines to determine the size of the bar when using with the logo.

Option 1: Thin Bar

The height of the bar is determined by the height of the two inside horizontal strokes in the logomark.

This example is on the PowerPoint and Keynote template files.

The space between the bar and the logomark should be the same width between the logomark and logotype.

Option 2: Thick Bar

The height of the bar is determined by the height of the top and bottom horizontal strokes in the logomark.

This example is on the business cards.

The space between the bar and the logomark should be the same width between the logomark and logotype.
